IN THE PRESS

"Ultimately, that much of it works so well is because of Sophie Ann Rooney's exquisitely detailed production designs, which extend into the audience, making us feel as if we are inside this rooming house." Joshua Chong The Toronto Star ½

"Authentic... inspired... I can't wait to see what this promising company does next." Glenn Sumi

'Rooney's choice to underscore a tense confrontation with "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" (as The Wizard of Oz plays in the background) is uncanny and truly inspired.' Istvan Dugalin

'...wonderfully designed by Sophie Ann Rooney who also directs and she is masterful as a director.' Lynn Slotkin

'I have great respect for Rooney, King Black Box and the substantive plays that they mount in their third-floor aerie. Those three flights of stairs can lead to outstanding theatrical experiences.' Paula Citron

The King Black Box was cited by Ilana Lucas in BroadwayWorld's Top Toronto Theatre 2025, and further recognized when BUG was named one of Glenn Sumi's Top 10 Toronto Theatre Productions of 2025, with Nicholas Eddie celebrated for his performance in BUG as one of Glenn Sumi's Top 10 Toronto Theatre Artists of 2025.

Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award with arts distinction, handed by the late His Royal Highness Prince Phillip The Duke of Edinburgh National Field Hockey France Team U18

Founded INSEINE CRU, a student-led drama club at The British School of Paris, after all theatre programs were cut and budgets redirected to sports. Refusing to let the stage go dark, she raised funds through handmade student initiatives and a sponsorship from Walls Ice Cream, culminating in a 500-seat production in her graduating year. She also established a handover tradition so future students could keep the curtain rising, ensuring the club's creative legacy continues to this day.
